Bio:

Jane Skafte earned a BFA from the School of the Art Institute in Chicago in textiles, and a dual masters from Syracuse University in fibers, textile design and studio art. As a fine artist she has had solo exhibitions of watercolors throughout Virginia, and group exhibitions along the East coast, New York and elsewhere. Her nature paintings are known for their highly detailed compositions with inherent delicacy, subtlety. She recently retired from teaching at universities and community colleges, and now teaches drawing and painting at her studio, private schools and art centers. She lives on a farm in Fluvanna County and is a renting member of McGuffey Art Center.
